Be it known to all who enter here that Christ is the reason for this school. He is the unseen but ever present teacher in its classes. He is the model of its faculty and the inspiration of its students.

Dear Parents:

During the course of one's life, a natural expectation is that there would be questions as to whether or not you made the right decision at one time or another. As I was watching my youngest, Jen, make her First Communion, along with her friends and classmates, I flashed back to when my oldest, Lauren, was still in preschool and my wife and I were discussing whether to send her to public school or Catholic school. We realized that by sending her to public school we could save an enormous amount of money in tuition by the time it was all said and done.

We could both be driving much nicer cars, take the family on any number of vacations, have some fancier things in our house, and on and on and on. The decision took all of two seconds. Lauren would go to SASEAS and we would make the necessary sacrifices to make it happen. Life, after all, is not about new cars and exotic vacations. I must admit that every now and then I do try to imagine the amount of tuition we have paid for our four children. It makes my brain hurt and I stop thinking about it.

Back to the pew this past Saturday. Seeing the thirteen first communicants on the altar with Father made me beam with pride. Knowing that this same scene would be going on during a number of other masses at both parishes this past weekend and will continue for the next several weekends, reaffirmed my wife's and I decision some seven years ago.

I continue to count my blessings each and every day that my family and I are fortunate enough to be part of such a caring, giving and nurturing parish and school community. To share moments such as First Communion with family and friends puts us in the midst of our heavenly Father's loving embrace. Feels good doesn't it.

Peace and all good.
